SEARS CASE SENT ON TO GRAND JURY

Congressman Flood Appeared for the Prisoner at the Preliminary Hearing.

SEARS DOES NOT DENY KILLING

Testimony That Young Man Was Not Under Influence of Whiskey.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

APPOMATTOX, VA., April 28.—At five o'clock this evening the preliminary trial of Lester Sears was held before Justice Thorpe. Congressman Flood appeared for the prisoner. Commonwealth's Attorney Ferguson looked after the prosecution. Four witnesses were examined, which included Dr. J. B. Abbott, the attending physician. The blacksmith, Bryant, who is regarded as an important witness, was not present.

It was developed that no one saw Sears hit Harvey, but Sears does not deny the killing—in fact, he admits having hit him with a stick.

There was no important testimony given in to-day's hearing to show that there was any premeditation in the killing, unless it be the proof advanced that young Sears returned in about an hour after they had had some words. The testimony showed that he was there but two minutes after his return before the fatal blow was heard. It appears certain that there were no eye-witnesses to the killing, although several people were within thirty steps of the two men.

Flood said he thought it was a proper case for the grand jury, and the young man was sent on. Motion for bail was overruled. Notice was given that the application would be rendered before Judge Commissioner Hensley, which motion will be heard next Thursday. Sears is in jail. The people are quiet and all seem to regret the unfortunate occurrence.

It has been stated that Harvey was under the influence of liquor. The family deny this; and, upon a direct cross-examination to-day, witness Cattman admitted that he and Harvey took one drink that morning, but stated that Harvey was not under the influence of liquor.

after I started. All sorts of rumors reached us en route as to the life, looking shooting, panic and death. We knew little or nothing of the efficient organization of citizens appointed by the mayor, comprising the best men in the community, acting in conjunction with General Funston and the United States army. As soon as the character of the local organization was understood, President Roosevelt and Secretary Taft recognized that it was the proper channel through which to distribute these large relief. The task was to co-ordinate the official and voluntary relief to make it go as far as possible, to prevent waste and ensure, if possible, that it would be sufficient to the citizens' committee and sufficient to the citizens' committee and sufficient to the citizens' committee.

The next important step was to arrange for the systematic reception and distribution of supplies. Fortunately the splendid organization of the United States army is eminently fitted to cope with this difficulty. Under the system now in force for the distribution of supplies, the army relieves, unloads and transports all the supplies that are consigned for the relief of the sufferers. Officers in charge of the commissary department attend to the work of distributing to the citizens relief funds scattered through the city. The Red Cross is replying to all requests sent by committees in other parts of the country as to the form contributions should take. While a large amount of money is to be available, the needs of San Francisco are very great, and I would not say a word that would lead the springs of charity or in any way check the splendid work that is being done by the people of the East and North and South and West.
